

Migrating Minds Mentoring Program

The Point In Time Migrating Minds Mentoring Program is a great example of transforming the aging experience and inspiring the art of living well across all of life's journey, regardless of age.

92% of older adults say having a purpose and feeling useful is the key to life.

The Migrating Minds Mentoring Program is designed to encourage older adults to live life with purpose and enjoy themselves by sharing years of knowledge, wisdom and experience from the workplace across generations. That's one result of the program.

The real result is inspiring young adults. stirring their imagination and charting a career path.

The mentors provide high school students with a vision of what their future could be and a road map to get there. They Ignite a passion for a precise personal learning experience that leads to a skill set and attainable career path young adults can enjoy and be proud of.

High School Students migrate from indecision to customizing their lifestyle around challenging cool jobs that offer the freedom of financial stability in return for hard work and a good work ethic.

A good job takes a good education, a precise personal learning experience that fits the individuals' expectations, natural abilities and budget, enabling them to meet their desired job criteria.

Mentoring Matters

Today, via teleteaching, mentoring is no longer a stumbling block. Older adults from across disciplines have the ability to share their knowledge, wisdom and experience effectively, one on one or with multiple students via Zoom or a classroom setting. Although the importance of mentoring cannot be underestimated, it is simply something that the vast majority of learning platforms do not provide in any meaningful way. Having someone nurture an individual's learning, test their understanding of a topic, and provide support and reinforcement as needed, transforms development.

OUTSIDE THEIR CIRCUMSTANCES, OUTSIDE THE DISTRACTIONS, THERE'S THIS OTHER PATH."
